

WINNIPEG STREET RAILWAY STRIKE

Employees and Company Issue Statements to the Public.

Winnipeg, Mar. 29.—After deliberating from midnight till after five o'clock this morning the employees of the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway Co. by a unanimous vote, decided to strike. At 3.30 o'clock, the executive committee of the union left the meeting and waited on the directors in the company's offices notifying them that the men saw no alternative but to strike and asking if the company had any proposition to make. Being informed that the company had none to make, the committee reported to the meeting and the men present unanimously voted to declare the strike on.

At 4 o'clock this morning the men gave out the following momentous statement:

"The fight is on. A strike is declared. Nothing is left to us but this step or else to repudiate the principles that constitute manhood. We will conduct the strike in a legitimate, law-abiding and honorable manner. Whether we win or lose it will be done honestly."

At the same hour the newspapers were authorized by the company to state that in any event cars would run as usual. The company has sufficient men on hand for the purpose. An extra guard was kept at the barns throughout the night, but the city police were not called into requisition. The directors were in session all night and William Whyte, Hugh Sutherland and F. M. Morse, road master was also present.

Manager Phillips gave out the following statement:

"We refuse to comply to the men's demands and the strike is on. Tell the public they won't have to walk to work."

Winnipeg, Mar. 29.—The Street Railway Company is running cars but there is much excitement. Mobs are gathering at corners and places along the lines hooting the new crews and endeavoring to block the lines. Draymen are in sympathy with the strikers and driving heavy wagons in front of cars. Several arrests have been made. Bricks were thrown through car windows. There are few passengers riding.

BEEF INDUSTRY INVESTIGATION

C. W. Peterson Will Give Some Facts and Figures to the Agricultural Committee.

C. W. Peterson, Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture under the Territorial administration, will come up from Calgary on Friday afternoon to lay before the Agricultural Committee of the Provincial Government facts and figures regarding the beef industry of the province.

It is presumed that the Government is acquiring the information with a view to making arrangements, if it is found advisable for a beef industry for Alberta under government supervision to be conducted in somewhat the same manner as the creamery industry of the Province.

Talked Under Cover of Gun

Montreal, Mar. 28.—A sensation was caused at Longueuil last night when Maurice Perrault, M.L.A., insisted upon speaking at a council meeting and held off the chief of police and the council at the point of a revolver. The meeting was called for the discussion of the Longueuil Tramway franchise by which connection between Montreal, Longueuil and Towns on the south shore is to be made. Perrault rose to speak. Mayor Lalonde informed him he had no right to speak. Perrault insisted and the mayor said he would have him ejected. Perrault said no power on earth could eject him. The mayor then called the chief of police to put him out. Perrault then drew a revolver and told the chief of police that he would shoot him dead.

Safe Blowers Rounded Up

Toronto, Mar. 28.—Some safe blowers who have been operating successfully through Ontario for years and who Friday blew open the safe of the Toronto Carpet Co. and also robbed the Puritan Knitting mills and Young & Co.'s cash and door factory are in the hands of the police. John Crosby and James Hunter of Toronto, were arrested tonight. On Crosby was found $40 in bills blown full of holes.

G.T.P. ENGINEERS BUSY ON COAST

C. C. Van Arsdale, Division Engineer, Will Direct Parties on Pacific Division

Vancouver, B. C., Mar. 24.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company is making preparations to follow up its survey work on the northern coast by doing some engineering and several parties of engineers will be dispatched to coast points within a very few weeks.

Already several local engineers having experience in railway work have been engaged by a representative of Engineer Van Arsdale of the Grand Trunk Pacific and these have been warned to hold themselves in readiness to go north the latter part of April or early in May.

The fact that it is engineers and not surveyors which the Grand Trunk Pacific is about to send north is significant. It is the opinion in well-informed circles that the Railway Company is about to fulfill the promise of the men who negotiated for the Kalen Island terminal site, that work on the construction of terminals at Kalen Island would be commenced early this summer.

If all the engineers to be sent out, and there are several parties, are not going to Kalen Island, it is probable that some of them will go there while others may go to Kitimaat where work will be commenced this summer on the railway to be built to the Skeena River near Hazelton on the charter of the Pacific, Omeka & Northern Railway, which was bought some time ago by Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. W. C. Mitchell, for many years public works engineer for the provincial Government, has been engaged to take charge of one of the parties of engineers to be sent out. Mr. Van Arsdale, who is now in Edmonton, is expected on the coast at an early date, and he will superintend the dispatch of the parties to the north. Supplies are now being arranged for.

From information contained in the coast papers, and from dispatches from the Coast, there seems to be very good reason to believe that the Grand Trunk Pacific has chosen the Yellowhead Pass-Praser River-Nechaco Valley-Skeena River route from Edmonton to the Pacific Coast.

During the campaign of surveying and engineering that was done last year to the west of the city of Edmonton, between here and the mountains, there were only two passes considered and neither of these was the Yellowhead. All attention last summer was directed to the Pine and Wapiti passes, both of which took the railroad over the continental divide at a place where it would seem to be necessary to go north of the Babine Lakes and Stuart Lakes in British Columbia in order to get to the Pacific Coast.

The Pine Pass has the advantage in altitude, being only 2550 feet at the divide, whereas the Wapiti is given as 5321 feet at its greatest altitude, a climb almost as great as the Canadian Pacific has to make at Laggan, where the altitude is 6321.

The Jasper Pass, more commonly denoted that the Yellowhead, to be 2500 miles almost due west of this city, allows of a gateway through the mountains at an altitude of 2556 feet, and the climb is made by a slow, steady ascent and descent which takes away the bad features of almost every other pass across the continental divide. Up until this winter, when 50 tons of supplies were rushed to the Jasper, no attention was apparently paid to this pass, but it may be that the G. T. P. has had it very clearly in mind all the time, and that the surveys in the Pine and Wapiti were merely to find out as much as they already knew about the Jasper pass. It will be remembered that at the time the Dominion government was surveying for the Canadian Pacific, in the old days, before the road was turned over to the company, that some very extensive surveys were made in the Jasper, or Yellowhead, and that for many years this pass was counted to be the gateway to the Pacific. William Moberly, one of the greatest railroad engineers that Canada has yet produced, recognized the possibilities of the Yellowhead, and he it was who made the survey of the pass. These surveys are still on file in Ottawa, and the G. T. P., like any one else, has access to them. Consequently, it is not at all improbable that while they have been apparently paying all attention to the Pine and Wapiti passes, that they have not been overlooking the Yellowhead.

The more recent development, however, and the one that seems to indicate that the Yellowhead is to be used, is found in the announcement from the Coast that C. C. Van Arsdale, of this city, divisional engineer for the company, is about to start out parties from the Coast for Kalen Island, Skeena

NO MINUTES ARE KEPT OF CITY COMMISSIONERS' MEETINGS

Secretary-Treasurer Kinnaird Offers a Reporter the Contract Book in Place of the Minute Book--No Minutes Kept "Since We Stopped."

Section 3 of Title XIII. of the city charter is being violated in another very important particular at the city hall than that brought out by the Bulletin the other day.

The Bulletin learned from the secretary-treasurer himself this morning that no minutes of any meeting of the city commissioners have been recorded whatever since the first of the year, and for how long before the secretary-treasurer would not say.

The secretary-treasurer was unable to produce a minute-book of any kind when asked to do so, but offered the reporter access to what he called a "Contract Book," which apparently contained a list of the prices of the tenders on contracts let by the commissioners.

The fact that no minutes of meetings of commissioners are recorded is especially interesting at the present moment in view of the circumstance that the new engineer, when employed, will be under the management of the commissioners, and the further circumstance that the council has approved of the action of the secretary-treasurer in refusing information to the press.

Clause 3 of Title XIII., above referred to reads:

Any elector may at all reasonable times, inspect any books, records, documents or accounts in the possession of the secretary-treasurer, including minutes of proceedings of the commissioners, or of committees of the council, assessment rolls, voters' lists, poll books, and all other documents in the possession of the secretary-treasurer, and the secretary-treasurer shall within a reasonable time furnish copies of any such documents or extracts therefrom to any such applicant at the rate of ten cents per hundred words.

Taking for granted that clause 3 meant what it said, the Bulletin representative presented himself at the public counter at the "reasonable time" of 11.30 a.m. today and asked to see the minutes of the last meeting of the commissioners. He was informed by the secretary-treasurer that the "last meeting" was now going on. The reporter tried the door to the room labelled "Commissioners" and found it locked. He then asked the secretary-treasurer for the minutes of the meeting previous to the meeting now going on. The secretary-treasurer rummaged among a pile of papers and produced a type-written copy on a loose sheet of a report to the city council the offer by Short, Cross, Biggar & Ewing of a site for a car barn.

"These are the minutes of the last meeting," said the secretary-treasurer, "in the form of a report."

The reporter asked for the minute book.

The secretary said that the minute book had not been kept up. The reporter asked if there were any minutes in the minute book of meetings held this year.

The secretary said there were not. "Were there any minutes taken last year?"

"Yes."

The secretary was asked for how long these minutes were kept and he said for quite a considerable time.

"How long since you have kept minutes of the commission's meetings?"

"His reply was laconic: 'Since we stopped.'"

This closed the interview.

MAY BONUS BEET ROOT

Messrs Woolf and Harcourt Visit Raymond to Study the Industry at Close Range

Deputy Minister Harcourt of the Agriculture Department of the Provincial Government, and Member Woolf, of Cardston, who made a trip to Raymond to look into the sugar beet industry with a view to suggesting legislation for the encouragement of the industry, returned last night and Mr. Woolf was at his desk in the House again to-day.

Speaking to the Bulletin about the beet sugar business he said that there were last year some 2000 acres under beet cultivation, and that they produced twenty coaches, besides the regular 4,000,000 pounds of sugar valued at 4 cents a pound.

Mr. Woolf found the farmers much interested in beet culture, and unanimous in the opinion that if a bonus which would directly benefit the farmers were offered that a greatly increased area would be placed under beets. The report of Mr. Woolf and Mr. Harcourt will be presented to a meeting of the Agricultural Committee when it meets on Friday evening.

Ottawa, Mar. 28.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson introduced in the House today an important bill amending the railway act. The result will be that the commission can control telephone rates and provide for connections of telephone companies one with another. The telephone company seeking connection must have its equipment up to a certain standard so as not to be a nuisance to the other company. The bill has other provisions amending the railway act so as to secure more accurate statistics from railways, more information for those asking approval of location routes, etc.

Minnesota Thief Escapes With Enormous Sum

St. Paul, Mar. 28.—One of the most gigantic robberies that was ever unearthed in the northwest was uncovered today by the police. With the theft of $300,000 facing them, and the name of the thief known, the police are powerless to locate him or the missing property. Two weeks ago it was discovered that $10,000 worth of plate had been taken from the residence of Dr. J. Pinault, a French surgeon living in Minneapolis. Some of the plate was used on the table of Louis 16th. It was thought that only the plate had been taken. Today it was discovered that $300,000 worth of securities had been taken from Pinault's private vault in a down town vault. Pinault hired Thos. J. Wainright to work about the house while the doctor was away. The doctor returned about two weeks ago and found Wainright missing and the plate gone. Today further search for the missing property was made and it was discovered that Wainright has done a big piece of criminal work.

Manitoba Liberals in Convention

Winnipeg, Mar. 28.—At the general session of the Manitoba Liberal Convention. Two principal comments were addressed by Horace Chavrier, M.P.P. and Edward Brown, of Portage. The former dealt with the record and accomplishments of Manitoba Liberalism and set forth some of the attempts of the Opposition in the Legislature to counteract the vicious legislation and general motive of the government now in power. It was received with much enthusiasm by the convention. Mr. Brown's address dealt with the attitude which in his opinion the party should take towards various provincial problems concerning which the convention had to pronounce. It outlined a practical, constructive, progressive, policy, statesmanlike in its breadth of outlook, clear in its reasoning, unassailable in its facts and conclusive as to its deductions. It took high moral ground on matters relating to principle both as to policy and administration and indicated Mr. Brown's personal desires as to progressive temperance legislation and set a high standard of personal and public morals. The evening was devoted to a most successful convention in the main hall at which some five hundred Liberals were present. Stirring, humorous and bright speeches were delivered by a number of prominent Liberals and municipal and other numbers afforded a splendid variety in an excellent entertainment. To-day the party platform will be finally defined and a choice will be made of a party leader. These matters with other important business leading up thereto will keep all delegates busy until the close of the

THE NEED OF CLEAN SEED GRAIN

Editor Bulletin.—Dear Sir,—What all farmers should do if they want to travel the road to success is to take the Farmers' Advocate and read its columns. But, Mr. Editor, what do we see in its issue of March 14th on its first page of reading matter in the first column? It says: "It looks as if seed fairs were badly needed. At the first provincial seed fair at Brandon only one sample of oats was eligible; all others being rejected for containing wild oats." Also another report from Nepeawa seed fair saying that Nepeawa many people were amazed to learn that there were wild oats. "Every exhibit of oats was rendered ineligible on account of the seed being infested, fuzzy-bodied enemy, the wild oat."

Now, this is an alarming state of affairs such a report as this from what we would suppose a practical outfit of farmers, and if the best they can offer is as bad as the report indicates and that for seed, what state is the ground in where the dirtiest grain has been grown?

Now as one who had a little to do with our seed fair at Edmonton on the 15th and 16th inst., I am glad to be able to state that we came off better than Brandon or Nepeawa.

In our competition on Red Pie we had 21 entries. Out of that number one was disqualified as it was wild oats. We had 153 entries on the seed list, and of this number we had seven disqualified.

But let us not think for a moment that we have no dirty grain in this country. We certainly have, and dirty grain means dirty ground, and dirty ground means that dirty grain was sown on it in the days gone by. We may well take a lesson from Brandon and Nepeawa—this is the end of the "don't care" class of farmers.

I want to say that we have some of these in the Edmonton district, although I was glad to see such an interest as there was in the Edmonton seed fair. Farmers know a good thing when they see it and when it is laid down on practical farmers' lines, although the management was sorely pressed for time.

I don't wonder why there was so much time (but not one bit too much) spent on educating the cattle man and his little agent on educating the grain raiser. True, we have experimental farms but few lectures and lectures knowledge in the importance of the importance of good clean seed.

But we have one thing to find out, and I am afraid it will be a hard nut to crack—that is how to get the farmer interested in the right way in himself. When that is done we will succeed. A man is of no use if he has not a mind strong enough to go ahead. But we should never get so far as not to be willing to be taught. Our department of Agriculture is doing its best to educate, but there is a slowness on the part of the agriculturist to come up and learn. A good motto would be more brain work and a little less labor.

I think the Edmonton seed fair was one of the best educators I saw yet in this country. The Edmonton people deserve credit for the cheerful way they turned it up financially and the farmers deserve credit for the way they turned up their grain to make it a success. Nor was this all. The amount of seed that was bought and sold was something wonderful.

All this goes to show that the farmer is alive to his business when it is put before him in a businesslike manner and at the right season. But now is the time to enlighten them where the money comes from, not when it is too late and the land is all dirty.

Now when we take a look at the enormous amount of land that is settling up in Alberta and know that the homesteader in making a start sows what he gets from his neighbor though ever so dirty we see where the source of the trouble lies. A dirty beginning nine times out of ten makes a dirty, indifferent ending.

But if it were possible to scatter information regarding the necessity of good seed along the lines is railroads through the country that is being settled up so fast, this trouble would be largely avoided. If such a settler would hand pick the grain when it is growing and pick out anything he sees and knows should not be there, every day he spends in so doing would be easily worth fifty dollars before fifteen years.

HUNDREDS ARE FLOODED OUT

An Iowa River Overflows—Enormous Damage Done

Waterloo, Mar. 29.—Water in the Cedar river rose over eleven feet last night and today broke the levee and flooded the business district. Hundreds of families are rendered homeless and the Rock Island tracks were washed out for half a mile and all roads are tied up. Cedar Falls reports a similar disaster and 290 families are rendered homeless. Bridges and dams are also swept away.

River, Nechoc Valley, and Tete Jaune cache.

A glance at the map will show what this means. In crossing the continental divide by the Yellowhead Pass, the route lies up the Athabasca River from the plains to where it forks to the north and west by a stream which is called the Miette. The valley in which the Miette takes its rise is the Yellowhead Pass. On the other side of the slope, all water runs into the Moose lake, which constitutes the head-waters of the Fraser River. The ascent and descent here is said to be so gradual that the travellers going by that route would hardly know when he has passed the divide.

On the other side of the divide is where the choosing of a route is difficult, and where the location of the surveying parties may mean something. Reaching the headwaters of the Fraser by the Moose lake and going down the river, which here flows to the northwest, the first point that is marked on any map is Tete Jaune Cache, and this is the point where the route would be the natural supply point or base of operations for a party laying out the line in descending the Fraser river. After Tete Jaune Cache the next point known by a name on the map is Port George, where the Fraser, coming in from the east and the Nechoc coming in from the west, join in the main almost of a letter T. The natural railway route from this point would, of course, be up the Nechoc, and the announcement that the G. T. P. is outfitting a party for that part of the route may be taken as confirming this surmise.

Following up the Nechoc, the next point of human habitation in this part of the world is Port Fraser, where the Nechoc comes out of the Fraser Lake. Last year a party of surveyors spent the season in this part of the country, and there is no doubt but what the Grand Trunk already had all the information necessary to assure them that the road along the lake is practicable.

Skirting the Fraser Lake, the trail which has been travelled in this part of the country since time and which is always described by prospectors and others as offering no insurmountable difficulties, lies along the Endako River, parallel a little lake called Burne Lake and another smaller body of water called Decker Lake, which go to make up the head waters of the Nechoc, and then crosses the Coast divide to the head waters of the Bulkley river, which is the country being boomed in British Columbia as the one district of all districts that is certain to get the railroad.

Following down the Bulkley, there are two alternative routes by which the Skeena might be reached. The Bulkley itself is a branch of the Skeena, and by following it to Hazelton the Skeena is reached by a water grade. The other route is up what is called the Telkwa and down the Copper river, a branch of the Skeena which rises in the same pass as the Telkwa, but flows to the west.

The Telkwa and Copper route is the shorter, and the question that remains to be settled is whether or not the grade is such as to make its use distant economical as a railway route. Here is work for the two parties going to Skeena for the balance of the season.

On the lower Skeena the route is pretty well known. It follows the Skeena, just about in the same way that the C. P. R. follows the Fraser to Burrard Inlet. If the Telkwa-Copper river cut off is used, the road will have to cross the Skeena river at the Canyon, a mile or two above the place where the Copper river empties into the Skeena. If the Bulkley is followed to the Skeena, the railway will most likely go on the north side of the river all the way.

At the terminus, the Skeena river and Tuck's Inlet, in which Klen Island is located, the announced terminus, is joined, but about the same relation to each other as Burrard Inlet and the Fraser river, on the C. P. R. Klen Island is reached, from the Skeena river by a cross country route of a few miles which does not present any insuperable obstacles. The Victoria Times is authority for the statement that the party which is to work in this part of the country is going to commence in the immediate future to lay out terminals and survey the town site on Klen Island, and that the work of building the docks and yards is to be commenced at once.

Coming back to this end of the work, the surveys on the Alberta side seem to bear out the Yellowhead theory admirably. A number of divergent surveys have been made from the city westward, but all appear to run into the McLeod river, where enters the Athabasca, and stop there. In the Pass, however, a pack train of over sixty head is working with all the steam there is in them, to get supplies up to the divide before the trails break up in the spring, and by the amount of supplies that are being forwarded it is evident that there is going to be a regular army of surveyors in the Yellowhead this summer.

This is the first time that the intention of the company with regard to their mountain route has been anything like clear, and if their moves are properly interpreted—it is a matter of great interest to the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia. Thousands of men in all parts of the Dominion are anxiously awaiting some announcement that will indicate by which route the road will reach the coast.

Day of Routine in Legislature.

Yesterday was another day of routine in the Legislature. Several bills were advanced a stage and a number of applications made to for privilege to introduce bills.

Among the bills read a second time were Mr. Cushing's bill, "An Ordinance respecting Local Improvement districts," and "an Ordinance Respecting Villages."

The only change of any consequence in these bills was that contained in an amendment to the bill respecting villages wherein it was provided that villages could not go into debt for more than $100 for all purposes. The old Ordinance provided that a village could not go into debt for more than $100 for any purpose, which was altogether different, as it meant that the village might go into debt to the extent of $100 on each of several different counts, although it might not go into debt to a greater extent than the amount mentioned on any single count.

Another amendment provides that villages must make a statement to the Provincial Secretary's Department of unpaid taxes.

The bill respecting the Department of the Provincial Secretary got its second reading, as did also the bill regarding the Department of Agriculture, and the bill regarding Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs was taken up by the Committee of the whole and passed with the exception of two or three clauses which were referred back for further consideration.

The second reading of the bill to incorporate the city of Medicine Hat was delayed on account of the fact that the printing could not be completed in time.

Fletcher S. Bredin, member for Athabasca, read petitions for the right to introduce bills to incorporate the Edmonton and Athabasca Railway Co. and the Edmonton and Athabasca Development Co.

The Select Committee reported that in respect of the bill applied for by the Right Reverend Emil J. Legal, O. M. I., to provide for the incorporation of the parishes and missions of the Catholic church in the Province of Alberta, the rules of the House with respect to advertising had not been fully complied with, and the Committee recommended that the rules in this respect be suspended and that the bill be allowed to go to the House and that the fees in the matter be remitted.

The same report was made with respect to the amendment applied for by the Western Canada College to Chapter 39 of the Ordinances.

John T. Moore asked why it was recommended that the fees should be returned, and Mr. Rosenroll explained that it was the custom to return the fees when dealing with religious, educational or charitable institutions.

Mr. Moore said that he desired that all the votes that he gave in the Legislature should be intelligently given and he thought that the fees should not be ordered returned until the bills had come before the House so that the members would have a chance to scrutinize them. He moved that the bills be referred back.

Mr. Simpson said that when the bill was brought in the time would come when Mr. Moore would have an opportunity with the other members to examine it and that if it was referred back now that the most probable thing that the committee on rules would do was to bring in the same recommendation as it had previously made. The recommendation was accepted by the House.

The bill to incorporate the city of Red Deer, the amendments to the Edmonton city charter, the bill to incorporate the Empire Club of Leithbridge and the bill to incorporate the Pincher Creek Club were all reported as having failed to comply with all the rules and requirements, and it was recommended that in their cases the rules be suspended and that the bills be introduced.

John T. Moore gave notice that on Friday, the 30th he would introduce a bill to incorporate the Alberta Pharmaceutical Association.

C. S. Stuart asked for a return showing the number of ballots cast in each constituency in the late Provincial elections and in the Peace River election, and the number of rejected ballots in each constituency.

Premier Rutherford introduced a bill respecting public printing, which was read a first time.

Mr. McKillop introduced a bill, which has been heretofore mentioned, to incorporate the parishes and missions of the Catholic Church in Alberta.

C. S. Stuart gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill to incorporate the Dental Association of Alberta.

SETTLERS POUR INTO THE PEMBINA DISTRICT

Paul Ross who keeps a general store up at Pembina River Crossing is in the city to-day for supplies. Paul was one of the first settlers in the Pembina River district, having gone up north some six years ago. He came from Bruce County, which probably explains the fact that he has been successful in the north country, and has a substantial living from his little store at the crossing. He has recently engaged a dry goods clerk from New Orleans, Mr. Albert Tellore, who is going to help build up a trade in the north that will make other stores around the country, sit up and take notice. There are six other stores of the kind that Mr. Ross keeps, all within a radius of six miles from the crossing, and all doing a rushing business.

While in the city Mr. Ross came in to see his friends in the Bulletin, and told them how the English and Americans are crowding into his territory up at the Crossing and are taking up all the land in sight, regardless of whether the government topography men have been there or not. He says the settlers coming in will squab on any land that looks good to them and will not wait for the surveyors to run their lines. "They are coming in by the hundreds," are the words used by Mr. Ross. "They are coming in every day."

RANFURLY GROWS RAPIDLY

Ranfurly, Mar. 27.—One of the greatest moves towards making a fine progressive town was begun to-day when a number of parties wishing to purchase improved and wild lands visited this place. Mr. T. W. Thompson has opened up a new Real Estate office in his large building on the corner of Main street and Railway avenue. Business was in full swing yesterday, and to-day and looks fine for some time to come. Mr. Thompson during the day made quite a number of sales also leased his building for the next year to Messrs. Durk & Duxson of Edmonton, who will put in a line of general merchandise. Mr. Thompson has bought the adjoining lot to build a new real estate office. Mr. J. S. Wood has also moved to his new lot and is conducting a good business. Mr. A. Blais has erected a fine new store. Mr. Blais' hotel will be opened by the first of April and is a credit to any town.

Mr. J. W. Reid, of the Massey-Harris Implement Co. will build a large show room and open a lumber yard. The settlers are having a petition circulated to have a Government creamery located at Ranfurly.

Town lots were put on the market on the 27th inst and almost all Main street and Railway avenue lots were sold. This town has one of the grandest sights in the district. Birch Lake Hills looms in the distance and there is a fine lake one quarter of a mile to the south-east. There is a fine productive farming country extending for 25 miles to the south, 10 miles each way east and west which promises a grain yield not less than 75,000 bushels this coming year. Wheat will be raised by the wholesale by all the farmers of this district. There is a movement on foot to have an annual fair to be held shortly after harvest to be known as the Birch Industrial Exhibit.

School districts are being formed all through each township. A new blacksmith shop is to be opened by the first of April. Eighteen buildings will be completed by the 15th of next month.

Bloody Fracas in Virginia

Bluefield, West Va., Mar. 28.—Bloodshed and death ended a service at the Methodist Episcopal church at Coaldale near here tonight. Benjamin Copely was killed instantly. His wife was fatally injured by having part of her head blown off by a shot-gun and several others received bullet wounds. W. H. Harper was wounded in the side and Henry Gorden was shot in the leg. Two unknown men who fled after the fight were wounded.

Unfortunate Johnstown

Johnstown, Mar. 28.—For three hours this morning Johnstown's business section was threatened with destruction by fire, which was only placed under control after it had burned itself out and caused a loss estimated at $1,000,000, and the death of fireman William Campbell who was caught under a falling wall. H. Southmore, a telegraph operator was also discovered dead.

RUSSIA NOW HAS ELECTIONS

Peasants Stand Together and Return Large Number of Representatives

St. Petersburg, Mar. 29.—The Province of Kostroma, European Russia is the first to have completed its elections to the congress. Forty-six peasants, nineteen noblemen, eighteen merchants, six professional men and three priests were returned. The results show that the "small land owners" who in reality are only peasants of the prosperous class stood together against the big landlords and chose exclusively peasants. Peasant electors are not classed and have but one plank in their platform, namely distribution of the land. The others are divided.

Kaluga, Central Russia, Mar. 29.—Prince Eugene Troubesky, leader of the moderates, who refused to accept the portfolio in Wit's Cabinet has been elected by the land owners a delegate to the provincial congress.

MANY POLITICAL SUSPECTS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

St. Petersburg, March 28.—Despite the government's assurance that another extensive outbreak in the near future is impossible, clouds are lowering and there are indications that a big storm may break before the Parliament meets. Resentment against the terrible repressive measures of the government is arousing the people, especially in the cities to fury. This is playing into the hands of the revolutionists who are planning a strike and a general uprising. The right moment will come in mid-April and both parties are preparing for the fray. It is likely to be bloody and more terrible than anything previously witnessed. The record of arrests in St. Petersburg last week besides showing an awful state of lawlessness in the capital is testimony of the methods by which the government hopes to prevent the threatened explosion. Six hundred and fifty-nine persons without passports; two hundred and seventeen thieves; two hundred and seventy highwaymen, and one thousand and sixty-seven "unclassified" persons which means political suspects were taken into custody.

FIRST DOOR EAST OF THE BANK OF MONTREAL

ALBERTA AND THE BEEF TRUST.

(Winnipeg Tribune.)

The Government of Alberta already appreciates the necessity of releasing the cattle industry of the country from the clutches of the beef combine, which are strangling it.

The ex-Territorial Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture has been invited to appear before the Committee of Agriculture and give evidence concerning the condition of the cattle industry in the province and to suggest some method by which relief from the oppression of the beef combine can be secured in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

There is but one way to obtain relief from any combine in Canada—and that is to break it up by prosecuting those who defy the law by combining in restraint of trade.

The Alberta government will have little difficulty in obtaining an answer to the question "Is there a beef trust in Canada?"

Alberta will have greater difficulty in breaking up that trust, when it has been detected.

The western headquarters of the combine will be found within the borders of Alberta. Winnipeg is the seat of the packing industry of this part of Canada.

The Government of Alberta has no power to prosecute in Manitoba and so long as the Government of Manitoba fails to appreciate its obligations to the people of this province a double trust may believe that they can afford to snap their fingers at Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Those who think that they can defeat all chance of investigation, however, seem to fail to realize that this agitation is not merely a passing whim; but to realize that not only the Government of Alberta and a few hundred farmers in Manitoba, but the great majority of the people of three provinces are aroused and determined to have justice.

The Government of Alberta cannot exercise any direct power in Manitoba, but it will be a very powerful and a very fool-hardy Government in Manitoba that will attempt to withstand the pressure of the united people of the three provinces.

The Manitoba government killed the motion in the Legislature to investigate the conditions surrounding the beef cattle industry.

Already the Government is, in effect, rebuked for its attitude by the Government of the infant province of Alberta.

The Manitoba Government will be subjected to a much more severe humiliation if it becomes necessary to have the question raised in the Dominion Parliament.

Does the Manitoba Government desire to see such a method adopted? If so, it is following the proper course to precipitate such a result.

This is a matter that cannot be lightly dismissed. Justice will be demanded until it is obtained.

Next to Grand View Hotel

EDMONTON AND THE OPENING CEREMONY.

(From the Eye-Opener)

We took a toddle up to Edmonton last week to witness the opening of the Provincial parliament and incidentally to meet old friends of bygone days. Five minutes after registering at the hotel our name was spotted by a billious gentleman, who swore by all that was holy that we had come up for no other purpose than to ridicule everything in sight. We are going to fool the billious gentleman. Even had we been so disposed, the thing feared by the b. g. would have been impossible, for there was nothing to ridicule.

All the proceedings in connection with the Opening were carried through with dignity and with appropriate attention to precedent. The ceremonial end of it was not overdone, being a curious admixture of western democracy and loyalty to the throne. There was no hitch. Everybody concerned seemed to know just what to do to make the ponderous ceremony pass off with eclat. (This word eclat is not pronounced eclat in Edmonton) The Lieutenant-Governor did not wear tanned shoes with his Windsor uniform, nor did Speaker Fisher roll a cigarette while being conducted to the chair in his robes of office. Everything was comme il faut, from the wise, statesmanlike look on John T. Moore's face to the demeanour of the bright little pages.

So that settles the billious gentleman. Between five and six thousand persons packed the mammoth rink, which was elaborately decorated for the historic event. The desks of the members were arranged in wide horse-shoe fashion in front of the throne and the members came strolling in as they felt like it and dropped into their seats as if they had been used to that sort of thing all their lives. Rosebowl, of course, nailed the best seat. The two seats reserved for the Opposition were the scene of a most affecting Gaston-and-Alphonse piece of pantomime. Hicbert and Robertson bowing politely one to another for five or ten minutes and waving their arms with elaborate courtesy towards the corner chair which was supposed to be for the leader of the knocked-down-and-dragged-out Conservative party. Mr. Robertson finally slid into it with a protesting smile. Then everybody sat back and waited, putting in the time studying the personnel of the Cabinet, admiring Marcellus's whiskers.

Presently the tootle-tootle of a bugle was heard outside and in a few moments aide-de-camp Wrayley, of the R.N.W.M.P., stalked in and sang out that his nios—but what is the use of describing what followed? It is a cheatnut by this time and the House has been down to business for a week.

A couple of nights later the rink was again the scene of a conversation, a full dress affair and very brilliant. The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Bulsey were present, as well as the editor of this paper. Indeed everyone of any distinction was there, except Donald Ross, Jack Coleman and Fraser Tims, all of whom had to stay down town and saw off on a game of pedro. At this function we met many charming ladies prominent in Edmonton society, and they certainly were most attentive and cordial to the visitors. We shall always think kindly of them for this.

The rest of the stay in Edmonton was made up of private luncheons and dinners, the intervals being taken up refusing drinks. The opportunity for getting on a glorious drunk was probably the most brilliant that has ever been placed at our disposal and it seems a pity the considerations of bi-choride of gold should have interfered with the evident desire of our friends. Believe us they are a whole-souled people. Of course their motto is, "What we have, we hold," but that is their business. Mr. Barker, of the Canada Life, voiced the general sentiment of the visitors when he wiped his heated brow on the platform at Strathcona as we were coming away and remarked—"The hospitality of those Edmonton folk is a revelation."

They take it for granted up in Edmonton that they are going to get the capital. This is not to be wondered at, since Calgary has not made the slightest effort in that direction. The citizens of Calgary are not a unit, the same as they are in Edmonton. Up there, there is constant evidence of union and community of interest. There are no inter-knocking societies. The business and professional men building going on while we were there, seem to be on excellent terms of camaraderie and the woman are all on speaking terms and seldom snub each other. This is a wonderful showing.

Still, in material sense, Calgary is the solidier town of the two. Real estate in Edmonton is away up in the air and bound to come down. There won't be a flop; only a gradual reduction in the price of mother earth, after which it will probably rise again (slightly) to stay. The inflation of values is due to the unconquerable optimism of the people and, even though there be a slump, no one will be hurt very badly. There was no although the buildings constructed during the past year or two are very substantial. The Government House is Frank Oliver's residence, small and unpretentious. We were in it for a few moments watching some of the members being sworn in, and the only thing that arrested our attention was the library, wherein resided Liddell & Scott's Greek Lexicon. What Liddell & Scott's Greek Lexicon was doing there we cannot surmise.

It is not surprising that Edmonton and the entire north country is unalterably hostile to the C. P. R. That part of Alberta has been treated with the most inexcusable meanness by the

C.P.R. The policy of that corporation has been one of studied injustice for a generation. It can only be attributed to stupid officials or to a regularly designed policy from Montreal. This course has been obstinately pursued by these chuckleheads toward anything and everything that favored the north.

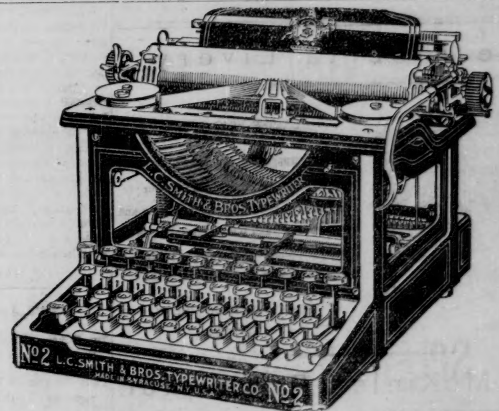

The one thing that makes the Edmonton people dislike the C. P. R. is that the freight rates were reduced to the following on the advent of the Canadian Northern, showing how the company had been taking wolfish advantage of their monopoly to soak them.
